What do you bring along? You bring a completed technical or commercial bachelor's degree. Also, you do have long-term professional experience in project/contract management of (international) infrastructure projects (preferably railway signaling), including risk and change management. In addition, experience in negotiating and/or reviewing contracts and ability not only to understand complex contract language, but also to interpretate and explain the contractual T&Cs to the team members is required. You are experienced in costing, providing evidence when billing additional and supplementary services and negotiating these supplements in projects.
