We are looking for Finance Managers who want to live and work in Abroad.

Chemical engineers use their knowledge of science and mathematics to improve processes and equipment used in processing chemicals and find solutions to the problems many industries face. They analyze processes and data, perform research and tests, and develop plans to optimize plant operations.

Chemical Engineer Responsibilities:

Using scientific, mathematical, and engineering principles to solve problems and improve processes.

Designing, proposing, implementing, reviewing, and correcting plans to ensure company goals are achieved.

Observing production processes, conducting research, and finding ways to increase efficiency and quality.

Using computers to compile and analyze data.

Establishing safety and waste management procedures.

Traveling to work sites and locations to learn about project needs and design, implement, troubleshoot, test, and improve processes, equipment, and facilities.

Assisting with establishing budgets and timelines.

Â

Chemical Engineer Requirements:

Bachelor's degree in chemical engineering.

Experience or more education may be strongly desired.

Industry-specific knowledge may be required.

Some positions may require or prefer additional certificates or licenses. -Strong understanding of chemistry, mathematics, biology, and engineering principles.

Ability to cooperate and communicate with others, especially those without a technical background.

Computer literacy.

Exceptional problem solving, verbal and written communication, presentation, and project management skills.

Desire to travel.
