1. Metro Station Design Leadership: • Provide design leadership and direction throughout the entire lifecycle of metro station projects, from concept development to construction and commissioning. • Collaborate with stakeholders, including clients, engineers, and urban planners, to understand project goals, functional requirements, and design constraints. 2. Architectural Design and Planning: • Develop and refine architectural design concepts for metro stations, considering factors such as passenger flow, safety, accessibility, aesthetics, and sustainability. • Create comprehensive design proposals, including plans, elevations, sections, and 3D visualizations, to communicate design intent to clients and project teams. 3. Project Management: • Lead multidisciplinary design teams, including architects, engineers, and consultants, ensuring effective coordination and collaboration throughout the design process. • Establish project schedules, milestones, and deliverables, and oversee their successful execution within budgetary and timeline constraints. 4. Technical Expertise: • Apply your deep understanding of metro station design principles, urban planning, and transportation infrastructure to develop innovative and functional design solutions. • Ensure compliance with applicable codes, regulations, and standards for metro station design, including safety, accessibility, and environmental requirements. 5. Client Engagement and Communication: • Act as the primary point of contact for clients, fostering strong relationships and understanding their needs and objectives. • Present design concepts, progress updates, and final proposals to clients, effectively communicating design intent, rationale, and benefits
