About the job

We are looking for a protocol researcher to join our team. Building a truly secure, scalable, and decentralized zero-knowledge rollup requires considerable research work, including solving many open problems around protocol and mechanism design. Your day-to-day work as a protocol researcher at Scroll will involve conducting research on Ethereum and layer 2 design. This research will need to cover a very large scope including rollup economics, state growth, EVM, MEV, PBS, AA, Layer 3, etc. We are looking for someone with a deep understanding of protocol research as well as basic coding ability. The ideal candidate will also be a strong communicator and writer, with an ability to output high quality content and to translate research ideas into terms that engineers can easily understand and implement. Scroll is proud to be an equal opportunity workplace. We are committed to equal employment opportunities regardless of race, color, ancestry, religion, sex, national origin, sexual orientation, age, citizenship, marital status, disability, gender identity, or veteran status. If you have a disability or special need, please let us know and we'll do our best to accommodate.

Job Duties

Survey existing layer 2 and Ethereum protocols through code and papers

Propose new designs and optimizations for our layer 2 protocol

Propose new designs and optimizations for Ethereum (i.e. propose layer 2 related EIPs)
Explore new research directions (i.e. EVM, MEV, PBS, AA, Layer 3, etc)
Output high quality content (i.e. talk, blog post, research post)
Keep the engineering team up to date with the latest ideas in protocol research
Establish collaborations with universities and external researchers to solve open problems

Qualifications

Strong interest in decentralized system and open source collaboration
Familiarity with layer 2 and Ethereum infrastructure
Ability to read and write academic papers, understand and propose EIPs
Ability to present and explain cutting-edge crypto research to engineers clearly
Experience in blockchain infrastructure development or cryptography preferred
Fluency in Golang, Rust, C++, or similar languages. We work primarily in Golang and Rust, but prior experience is not mandatory

Benefits

Work from anywhere with flexible hours
Generous paid time off
Home office set up
Annual growth budget
Coworking membership allowance
Private healthcare in selected countries
Competitive salary package
