Company: MEONE MEDICAL CENTER

Location: dubai

Category: other-general

Imaging Procedures: Perform diagnostic imaging procedures according to physician orders and established protocols. Position patients correctly and safely to obtain clear and accurate images. Operate radiographic equipment, including X-ray machines, CT scanners, MRI scanners, and fluoroscopy machines, following safety protocols and manufacturer guidelines. Adjust imaging parameters, such as exposure settings and contrast levels, to optimize image quality while minimizing radiation exposure.

Patient Care and Safety: Ensure patients are informed about the imaging procedure and provide support and reassurance throughout the process. Verify patients' identities and medical histories to confirm appropriateness of the procedure. Adhere to radiation safety protocols to protect patients, staff, and yourself from unnecessary radiation exposure. Monitor patients for any adverse reactions during or after the imaging procedure, taking appropriate action as needed.

Image Processing and Analysis: Process and analyze imaging studies to ensure technical quality and diagnostic accuracy. Review images for clarity, proper positioning, and pathology, consulting with radiologists or other healthcare providers as needed. Document imaging findings accurately in the patient's medical record, including any observations or abnormalities.

Equipment Maintenance and Quality Control: Perform routine maintenance and calibration of imaging equipment to ensure proper functioning and image quality. Identify and troubleshoot equipment malfunctions, following established protocols for maintenance and repair. Participate in quality assurance activities, such as image quality assessment and performance monitoring, to uphold standards of excellence in diagnostic imaging.

Collaboration and Communication: Collaborate with radiologists, physicians, and other healthcare professionals to interpret imaging studies and contribute to patient care decisions. Communicate effectively with patients, explaining procedures, addressing questions or concerns, and providing instructions for follow-up care. Work as part of a multidisciplinary team to coordinate patient care and ensure seamless delivery of services.
