Company: ExtraHop

Location: United Arab Emirates

Category: healthcare-practitioners-and-technical

ExtraHop is on a mission to protect and propagate trust by revealing the cybertruth: the truth about the attackers already inside an organization's network, the truth about what they're doing, and how to stop them at top speed. We partner with every customer, every day, to reveal it.

Are you ready to join us

ExtraHop's Solutions Architecture team is very different from many other post-sales services practices—we focus on outcomes and customer success rather than racking up billable hours. As a member of our Solutions Architecture team, you'll play a critical role in the success of our customers, products, and position in the marketplace. Our Architects tackle the most difficult business and technology problems across a vast array of industries and technologies. As a Solutions Architect at ExtraHop, you will never be bored again.

Undertake specialized technical investigations to resolve issues with security controls

Provide expertise and advice on security controls and processes to the team and stakeholders to ensure the effective delivery of security services to customers

As a subject matter expert, contribute to operational strategic planning and decision-making processes with senior stakeholders.

Develop threat analysis and incident response plans

Provide threat detection and response skills

Bring energy and mentorship

As a proactive team member, the role is required to provide agile high-quality support, development and improvement of security controls, processes, threat detection and threat response

Qualifications And Experience

We're looking for a Solutions Architect who can help us grow to the next level as a company. As a starting point for this position, you'll need the following background:

Bachelor's degree or equivalent experience in computer science, engineering, or information technology

Minimum of 4 years of experience in Information Technology, particularly networking and systems administration. Cybersecurity experience highly desirable.

Highly proficient with scripting languages Python and JavaScript

Experience in customer-facing positions; excellent interpersonal skills

Understanding of core networking principles (layers 2 through 4 of the OSI model) and application protocols (HTTP, SQL, CIFS/NFS, HL7, Memcache, DNS)

Familiarity with principles of internet worked applications and related technologies (HTTP, databases, caching, distributed systems, etc)

Excellent written communication skills; Arabic and English

Works well independently and as a team.

Desirable Skills

Familiarity with network security, IDS, and SIEM technologies

Familiarity with security frameworks such as MITRE ATT & CK, NIST, or CIS Controls

Ability to adapt to different enterprise security requirements

Ability to communicate security hygiene best-practices.

About ExtraHop

ExtraHop is the cybersecurity partner enterprises trust to reveal the unknown and unmask the attack. We're on a mission to protect and propagate trust by revealing the cybertruth, and we partner with every customer, every day, to uncover it. Our Reveal(x) 360 platform is the only network detection and response solution delivering the 360-degree visibility needed to see everything on the network. When organizations have full network transparency with ExtraHop, they can see more, know more, and stop more cyberattacks.

ExtraHop is recognized by leading organizations for both innovation in the market and its commitment to building a world-class team. We've been recognized as a 'Customer's Choice' by Gartner Peer Insights™ Voice of the Customer , and as a Leader in the Forrester Wave®: Network Analysis and Visibility, Q2 2023 . ExtraHop has won AI Breakthrough Awards four times (2018-2020, 2023) and our Channel Partner program has received a 5-star rating from CRN for our 2023 Partner Program Guide . Our flagship product, Reveal(x), has received numerous accolades, including a 2022 Edison Award for Cybersecurity .
