Company: Apple

Location: dubai

Category: other-general

Description

As an Operations Expert, you and your team have the incredible responsibility of ensuring products take the final step in the supply chain: getting into customers' hands. You're in charge of the store's entire inventory – products, parts, tools, supplies, and everything else. You make sure your team has the support, knowledge, and resources required to maintain product availability, complete inventory tasks, and keep the stockroom organized as new products arrive. You're in constant contact with the management and leadership teams, sharing data about the status of products and parts. And when exciting new products arrive, you're the first to open them up and present them to the entire store team. Apple makes the products, but you make it happen by being ready to place our products in customers' hands.

Responsibilities: Ability to think quickly and perform problem-solving tasks, even within changing conditions.

Leadership skills, whether guiding by example or coaching a group.

Strong organizational skills, quickly evaluating every situation. #J-18808-Ljbfrr
